

PRESS STATEMENT

Before allowing themselves to get into the euphoria that the PAP government is drumming up for National Day, Singaporeans should ask themselves what are they celebrating.

Are they celebrating forty years of freedom with respect for the human rights of all of us who make Singapore,

our right to a decent standard of living,
our right to adequate health,
our right to work and fair wages

or are we celebrating forty years of our servitude, bondage to the ruling oligarchy with the gap between the rich and poor widening at a quickening pace.

(J B Jeyaretnam)
4th August 2005

Original Image

PRESS STATEMENT

Before allowing themselves to get into the euphoria that the PAP government is drumming up for National Day, Singaporeans should ask themselves what are they celebrating.

Are they celebrating forty years of freedom with respect for the

human rights of all of us who make Singapore,
our right to a decent standard of living,
our right to adequate health,
our right to work and fair wages

or are we celebrating forty years of our servitude, bondage to the ruling oligarchy with the gap between the rich and poor widening at a quickening pace.

(J B Jeyaretnam)
4th August 2005